

MOULD REMEDIATION

Mould is the result of a preexisting condition. Although mould is everywhere and all around us both inside and outside, the potentially harmful mould found in homes, apartment buildings, condominiums and industrial properties needs moisture, a source of food (drywall, wood, carpet, dust, dander, etc.) and warmth in order to grow.

Identifying the Preexisting Condition

Our mould remediation services in Toronto focus not only on the removal of existing mould inside your property, but also on the accurate identification of the underlying source of the problem. It could be ground seepage water, a leaky pipe or condensation but most importantly, once the origin of its growth is determined, we can treat mould from the root cause to ensure that it doesn't persist long after we're gone.

Removing Foul Odours

Many people think it's the mould itself that gives off that awful, musty smell but in fact it is the gases produced by the mould called Microbial Volatile Organic Compounds (MVOCs). Sometimes the mould may not even be visible, but MVOCs are a clear indication of the fact that a problem exists somewhere. Floods4Less uses state of the art tools, advanced technologies and commercial grade chemicals to find the source and abate mould growth for good.

Detailed Assessments and Documentation

When you hire Floods4Less, you benefit from an expert, honest and thorough mould remediation service in Toronto. Room by room, we assess the situation and provide detailed reports and estimates backed by specific measurements, air quality measurements and photos.

The Importance of Containment

At Floods4Less, we focus on mould containment. Before complete abatement and remediation can occur, containment of the affected areas is essential. This ensures that airborne spores do not travel into other areas of your home, resulting in further contamination and a larger problem to address.

Our Toronto mould remediation services are efficient and effective. Working hard to resolve the issue as quickly as possible, Floods4Less is thorough and focused in its approach.
