ABOUT

We create, we innovate, we trailblaze

Thrilling visual effects for feature films and television

Nearly 20 years ago, in 2002, Soho VFX was born. What began as a boutique visual effects studio today has grown into an innovative, talented and quirky team of artists, supervisors, developers and support staff. From concept, to filming, to polished final product, we work collaboratively to create truly exceptional client experiences throughout each stage of the visual production process.

Where the magic happens

Soho VFX purchased an old power station building in The Junction in Toronto. After floor-to-ceiling renovations designed to fit our exact needs, it became our new home in 2020. 17,000 square feet spreads over three floors, featuring two screening rooms, a full kitchen and eating area, our beloved silo, rooftop patio, and numerous offices and work spaces that fuel cooperation, productivity and inventiveness to make the extraordinary happen every day.

It's a privilege to do what we do

Soho VFX is driven by passion, vision and an endless sea of creativity. Every project brings its own challenges - and we love rising to the occasion. The excitement is infectious as we work together to bring never-seen-before visual concepts to life, on schedule and on budget.

There's no bridge we won't cross for a client

At Soho VFX, there's no greater sense of satisfaction than creating visual effects we're truly proud of, and putting smiles on our clients' faces. For us it's about far more than doing the job - it's about providing a complete experience that's fun, productive and cutting-edge every step of the way.

Security is a top priority

We understand intimately the importance of security in our industry. That's why our systems are constantly monitored, upgraded and tested. We use advanced firewall protection, secure transfer connections and full encryption for all physically and digitally shipped assets.

OUR WORK

Impossible?
Everything is possible.

Whatever your mind can imagine, we can put it
on screen for your audiences to enjoy.

We add characters to a scene that doesn't have any.

We blow up a building, yet it still stands.

We change entire environments and surroundings to defy reality.

For big-box blockbusters, indie movies and television, our visual effects are innovative, impactful and precisely to spec.

CAREERS

Our people are our greatest asset.

It's the Soho VFX team that sets us apart.

Soho VFX hires those with exceptional talent, strong values, infectious personalities and an insatiable work ethic.

We're always looking for new people to join our exciting team. The visual effects industry is one that's constantly evolving and we like to think we are too.
